OH, DAT WATTERMILLION!

Sum ar' pa'shel ter de appel,
Udders holler for de plum,
Sum fine 'joyment in de cherry,
Udders make de peachis hun;
Sum git fastened ter de lingun,
Udders lub de artichoke,
But dey can't tech wattermillion,
Dat's my plinyun—I done spoke.

Chorus:

Hit ar' meller, hit are juicy,
Hit ar' coolin', hit are sweet,
Hit ar' painless ter de stummick,
You can eat, an' eat, an' eat!

Sum fine pleasher in do orange,
Udders lays fer canterlonpe;
Sum ar' goes strong on de banana,
Sum de huckleberry scoop.
Dar is a timber in de punkin'
Fur de richest kine ob pie,
But dat speck'led watermillion
Is de fruit what takes my eye.

Chorus:

Hit ar' meller, hit ar' juicy,
Hit ar' coolin', hit ar' sweet,
Hit ar' painless ter de stummick,
You can eat, an' eat, an' eat!

You must clime ter git de appel,
Er de cherry, er de peach,
An' inn's ullers, when you eat 'em,
Keep a doctor widin' reach;
But de tubby watermillion
Makes hits bel un'on de groun',
An' de darkey 'stead de doctor
In de moonlight makes de round.

Chorus:

Hit ar' meller, hit are juicy,
Hit ar' coolin', hit are sweet,
Hit ar' painless ter de stummick,
You can eat, an' eat, an' eat!

Something Curious Happened.

A boy ten years old pulled a heavy cart loaded with pieces of boards and lath taken from some demolished structure—an every day sight in all our cities. Tired and exhausted he halted under a shade tree. His feet were bruised and sore, his clothes in rags, his face pinched and looking years older than it should. What must be the thoughts of such a child as he looks out upon the world—the fine houses, the rich dresses, the rolling carriages—the happy faces of those who have never known what it was to be poor? Does it harden the heart and make it wicked, or does it bring a feeling of loneliness and wretchedness—a wondering if the rich man's Heaven is not so far from the poor man's Heaven that he will never catch sight of their pinched faces?

The boy lay down on the grass, and in five minutes was sound asleep. His bare feet just touched of the curbstone and the old hat fell from his head and rolled to the walk. In the shadow of the tree his face told a story that every passerby could read. It told of scanty food—of nights when the body shivered with cold—of a home without sunshine—of a young life confronted by mocking shadows.

Then something curious happened. A laboring man—a queer, old man with a wood-saw on his arm—crossed the street to rest for a moment beneath the same shade. He glanced at the boy and turned away, but his look was drawn again, and now he saw the picture and read the story. He, too, was poor. He, too, knew what it was to shiver and hunger. He tip-toed along until he could bend over the boy, and then he took from his pocket a piece of bread and meat—the dinner he was to eat if he found work—and laid it down beside the lad. Then he walked carefully away, looked back every moment, but hastening out of sight as if he wanted to escape thanks. Men, women and children had seen it all, and what a lever it was! The human heart is ever kind and generous, but sometimes there is need of a key to open it. A man walked down from his steps and left a half dollar beside the poor man's bread. A woman walked down and left a good hat in place of the old one. A child came with a pair of shoes and a boy brought a coat and vest. Pedestrians halted and whispered and dropped dimes and quarters beside the first silver piece.

Something curious had happened. The charity of a poor old man had unlocked the hearts of a score of people. Then something strange occurred. The pinched faced boy suddenly awoke, and sprang up as if it were a crime to sleep there. He saw the bread—the clothing—the money—the score of people waiting around to see what he would do. He knew that he had slept, and he realized that all those things had come to him as he dreamt. Then what did he do? Why he sat down and covered his face with his hands and sobbed like a grieved child. They had read him a sermon greater than all the sermons of the churches. They had set his heart to swelling and jumping until it choked him. Poor, ragged and wretched, and feeling that he was no more to the world than a stick or a stone—he had awakened to find that the world regarded him as a human being worthy of aid and entitled to pity.

What One Calls Tact.

Galveston News.

The best natured woman in the United States lives in Austin. She has been married a number of years to a man named Ferguson, but she and her husband have never had a quarrel yet, and he has frequently boasted that it is utterly impossible to make her angry. Ferguson made several desperate attempts to see if he could not exasperate her to look cross or scowl at him, merely to gratify his curiosity, but the more outrageously he acted the more affable and loving she behaved.

Last week he was talking to a friend about what a hard time he had trying to find out if his wife had a temper. The friend offered to bet $50 that if Ferguson were to go home drunk, raise a row, and pull the table cloth full of dishes off the table, she would show some signs of annoyance. Ferguson said he didn't want to rob a friend of his money, for he knew he would win; but they at last made the bet of $50, the friend to hide in the front yard and watch the proceedings of the convention through the window.

Ferguson came home late, and apparently fighting drunk. She met him at the gate, kissed him, and assisted his tottering steps to the house. He sat down hard in the middle of the floor and howled out:

"Confound your ugly picture, what did you mean by pulling that chair from under me?"

"Oh, I hope you didn't hurt yourself. It is my awkwardness, but I'll try and not do it again," and she helped him to his feet, although she had nothing in the world to do with his falling.

He then sat down on the sofa, and sliding off on the floor, abused her like a pickpocket for lifting up the other end of the sofa, all of which she took good naturally, and finally she led him to the supper table. He threw a plate at her, but she acted as if she had not noticed it, and asked him if he would take tea or coffee. Then the brute seized the table cloth and sat down on the floor, pulling the dishes and everything else over with him in one grand crash.

What did this noble woman do? Do you suppose she grumbled and talked about going home to her ma, or that she sat down and cried like a fool, or that she sulked or pouted? Not a bit of it. With a pleasant smile, she said:

"Why, George, that's a new idea, ain't it? We have been married ten years, and have never yet ate our supper on the floor. Won't it be fun, just like those picnics we used to go to before we got married." And then this angelic woman deliberately sat down on the floor alongside of the wretch, arranged the dishes and fixed him up a nice supper.

This broke George all up. He owned up he was only fooling her, and offered to give her the fifty dollars to get her a new hat, but she took the money and bought him a new suit of clothes and a box of cigars.

Eastern Streams.

A Connecticut paper says they tell of a New Jersey Congressman, who, when the Fire Department of his village throws out an extra large stream from its hose, rushes to Washington to secure an appropriation for making it navigable.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

SATURDAY EVENING, SEPT. 2, 1882.

TERMS:—The EVENING BULLETIN is published daily, and served free of postage at 6 cents per week; 25 cents per month; 75 cents per three months; $1.50 per six months, and $3 per year, payable in advance.

THE EVENING BULLETIN HAS A LARGER CIRCULATION IN THIS CITY, CHESTER AND ABERDEEN, OHIO, THAN ANY OTHER PAPER PUBLISHED IN MAYSVILLE.

THE Kentucky State Bee-Keepers' Convention will meet at Louisville, Sept. 26th and 27th.

It is estimated that the fine grain crops of the South will save that section $100,000,000 hitherto directed northward.

THE "grand old party" that lives by looting scrub women, page boys, department clerks and Federal office holders generally, is not only sick but full of sores.

THE aphorism runs, "When thieves fall out honest men get their dues." But occasionally thieves fail to get their dues from honest men. This may yet prove the case in the star route prosecutions.

THE republican trouble in Massachusetts looks as if the disaffection had spread from Pennsylvania to New York and then to the Bay state. If the republican party is not breaking up all signs are at fault.

THE Republicans of Mason county held their convention this morning. Uncle Roe Stockton was appointed chairman, and Messrs. J. K. Lloyd, Harry Wadsworth and E. R. Blaine, secretaries. Thirty-eight delegates were selected who were instructed to vote for the Hon. W. H. Wadsworth as long as his name was before the Catlettsburg convention.

THE matter of "punched" or mutilated coins is one of much annoyance in this country at present. One of the most common methods of debasing coins is to punch out pieces of silver and fill the holes with tin foil. When the filling is neatly done it is not difficult to pass such mutilated pieces on the unwary. Judge Lowell, of the United States Circuit Court, in a Boston case has held the punching and filling to be an act of counterfeiting, and an attempt to pass a coin thus punched and filled to be an attempt to pass counterfeit money. The great mass of mutilated silver has been driven out of circulation by the refusal of people to touch the stuff. It will surprise most persons to learn that they render themselves liable to severe penalties for "shoving" this specific kind of "queer," and as Bradstreet's justly puts it, "Judge Lowell's decision should, through wide publication, be a timely warning."

They Are Strangers Now.

Hartford Times.

A Middletown young lady never tires of relating an amusing occurrence of the sleighing season last winter. She was enjoying a ride in company with two Hartford gentlemen, and she was driving. One of the gentlemen slyly inserted a hand in her muff and lovingly pressed her disengaged hand. She blushed, and withdrew it just as the gentleman on the other side slipped his hand in the muff. She knew by the action of her adores that the hand-pressure were frequent and loving within the silk lining of the muff, for first one face and then the other would bob forward to catch a look at the sweet face and eyes which prompted, as they supposed, the tender pressure of the hand. The by-play lasted until the young lady quietly remarked. "If you gentlemen are through with my muff I will trouble you for it now, as my hands are getting cold." And the two gentlemen who had been comfortably warm up to this time, suddenly felt an Arctic chill creeping up their spinal columns, and the mercury of their feelings dropped to 180 degrees below zero. The two gentlemen are strangers now.

A Coney Island Mystery Explained.

San Francisco Chronicle: It is not the climate that makes intoxication from lager impossible. It is not the lager, either. It's the way of serving it. A Coney Island glass of beer is a teaspoonful blown up into a half pint of gas. A glass of it would probably float away like a balloon if the top of it was covered up. The sensation of drinking a glassful is something between a broken dream and a mouthful of fog. The sustenance due obtains from it is got from the calm assurance of the bartender, who meets your eye unflinchingly. But for this a man might feel swindled. I asked a man who sells more larger than anyone else there how his men manage to get so little in the glasses.

"I'll tell you," said he. "I buy only quarter barrels, and I tell my bar tenders that if they don't make the price of a barrel on each quarter they can not work for me. A barrel costs $8. A quarter holds ninety city glasses, or $5.40, but they must piece each one out into 160 glasses or quit work."

"Why, that would be over half a glassful," said I, "and I never got half a glass yet."

"Of course not," said the beer-seller, "because the men ain't honest. They know that they can keep every cent over $8 that they take in on a quarter-barrel, and that I won't complain; so the rascals knock down a couple of dollars or so on the quarter-barrel by drawing 200, or even a greater number of glasses. Of course I think that's an outrage, but it's the rule down here, and as long as I get my $8 I don't say anything."

Canned Goods.

The house in Melbury road, Kensington, where the Zulus lodge was formerly occupied by an artist, who left behind him a japanned tin box full of tubes of oil color. Now, it happened one morning lately that Mmokosana, he who led the Zulu army at Isandula and Umgobogana, the General in command at Rorke's Drift, came across the paint box, and, with the curiosity of their simple savage natures, they opened it. Both braves had seen the passengers on board the Arab eat shrimp paste. That may have induced them to squeeze some portions of flake white, yellow ochre and Indian red upon slices of bread and butter, and to consume the same in the belief that they were partaking of a particularly appetizing British breakfast delicacy.

He Was About.

When the rider in the guise of a drunken spectator staggered into a circus ring at Marquette, Mich., and the ringmaster went through with the usual foolery of ejecting him, incidentally remarking that no policemen were ever present when order needed to be restored, a German officer hustled the performer off to jail, in spite of all protests and explanations. "A choke is a choke," he said, "but ven a man zay vere is de bolice, and vy don'd dey arrest dat drunk man, den de Marquette bolice is in dot vicinid, und don'd you forgot it, Mr. Circus, I bed you."

Disgrace to Our Civilization.

Chicago Inter Ocean.

Kentucky has no reform school and sends children to the penitentiary of the State, where they are left to grow up with adult convicts. Ten children under fifteen years old are now reported as serving terms in the State penitentiary. This is poor economy for a rich State like Kentucky, besides a disgrace to her civilization.

Smart Men.

In a recent lecture Henry Ward Beecher said: "In this country smart men have always a chance." That is true enough; but after they have had it hundreds of them shake their country and go to Canada and stay until the directors fix up the affair with the stockholders.

Varied Employments.

A real estate dealer advertises in a Dakota newspaper: "I can be found either at the Gold Mine playing 'freeze out,' at Mitchell's Exchange betting on the age of 'old hosses' with Brown, or at my residence on Oak street, perusing the Scriptures."

The glass in Messrs. George Cox & Son's windows, put in by Mr. J. R. Souseley are 90 by 120 inches in size, and contain 10,800 squares inches. Each glass weighs 600 pounds. The lights in White & Orr's windows are 88 by 131 inches and contain 11,528 square inches. These are the largest glasses in the city.

THE EVENING BULLETIN circulates not only in Maysville, Aberdeen and Chester, but also throughout the entire county. We have good subscription lists at Washington, Mayslick, Sardis, Germantown, Fern Leaf, Shannon and other points. An advertisement occupying the space of one inch, for one month, including the fair week costs only one dollar. Business men are invited to make use of our columns.

MR. ED. MYALL, chairman of the Committee of Reception of the Christian Church, desires us to say that homes in the city were assigned to a number of delegates to the convention, that were not filled on account of the non-arrival of those expected. He returns the thanks of the committee and feels under the same obligation as though it had been possible to accept the hospitality so generously offered.

At a special meeting of the council held Friday evening, the bridge committee was empowered to construct over Limestone creek a permanent bridge of such a character as in their judgment they consider best. The contract, we are informed, has been given to Mr. John Bauer, of Aberdeen, who is now putting up the temporary structure. He is to furnish a pine bridge, 130 feet long, for $1,885, and is to allow the city $200 for the material of the temporary one, which is to cost $412. The total cost of the bridge, not including the masonry, will be $2,097. The work is to be finished in thirty days.

The subject of Rev. W. D. Powers' sermon at the church of the Nativity, to-morrow, will be "The Parable of the ten Virgins."

There will be services at the M. E. Church, South, to-morrow morning and evening. As it is the last Sabbath of the conference year, the position, Rev. M. D. Reynolds, requests a full attendance of the members.

Rev. A. R. Kennedy will resume the usual night services in the Presbyterian church on Third street, to-morrow night. Subject for night sermon "The Paradox of Vision, Unseen things Clearly seen." Morning service at 11 o'clock.

There will be religious services at the Third Street M. E. Church, to-morrow morning and evening. At 11 a.m., will be the regular monthly communion service, and at 7:30 p.m., preaching by the pastor. Everybody is invited.

Rev. W. W. Spates closed his meeting in the barn of Asael Woodward, near Germantown, on the 29th ult., with eight additions to the church, and about that many conversions at the altar of prayer. He had very little ministerial help.

The Champion Stallion.

The hero of last year's stallion race at Rochester, New York, Alexander by Ben Patchen, dam by Canada Jack, son of St. Lawrence, is now at Lexington, Ky., under the care and training of Frank Van Ness, a driver of great skill and ability, and a private letter from Mr. France informs us that Alexander is rounding to in fine shape and will be in splendid condition for his speed trials at our fair commencing Sept. 19. This great stallion was withdrawn from the turf and sent to Kentucky to fill out the unexpired term of Geo. Wilkes. This celebrated champion stallion will be a great attraction at our fall fair, and will trot each day of the fair against his own record of 2:19, for a silver cup, value $200, and the present indications are that he will not only beat his own record, but will make the fastest time ever accomplished by any stallion in America.

A Card.

The committee whose duty it was to arrange for the entertainment of delegates attending the Kentucky Christian Missionary Convention recently held in this city, recognize their obligations to those of our citizens who so freely opened their hearts and their homes and contributed so largely toward making success possible. Everything that a generous hearted and liberal minded people could offer was placed at our disposal, and instances were rare indeed of a refusal by any of them to entertain at their homes, or to contribute in some way to the entertainment of our guests. Whatever of success, therefore, has attended our labors is due to the kindly sympathy and aid of our good people, and entitles them to our sincere thanks which we now hereby tender.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. E. P. Tabb, of Dover, is visiting her son, Mr. L. M. Tabb, of this city.

Miss Maude Wilson, of Aberdeen, has returned from a visit to Ripley, accomplished by her friend Miss Eva Ridgway who will be her guest for several weeks.

Sanctification.

MAYSVILLE, KY., Sept. 2, 1882.

Editor Bulletin: In your issue of yesterday is an article entitled "unsanctified still in doubt" which your camp-meeting correspondent who is absent from the city will no doubt answer on his return, but we wish to say that we will answer it to-morrow evening from the pulpit of the M. E. Church, to the satisfaction of all who will attend, we feel that such pernicious heresy as the article contains should be exposed from the pulpit, as well as through the press, for it is just such teaching that corrupts the church, exalts distillers, and whisky drinkers to official positions, makes the mere forms of religion to take the place of spiritual christianity and enables the sinner to glide easily down to hell.

Yours respectfully,
E. L. SANDERS.

W. M. P. COONS.

JAS. H. SALLEE.

Sept 3d 1882.

Apostrophe to an Indian Maiden.
Thou still and senseless gob of bronzed and dazzling worth, we hail thee at a comfortable distance and trill
to thee our little song.

Who taught thee such unfutored grace of limb, such cross-eyed footsteps and such simple trust?

Who taught thee thus to overtake the angle-worm and nail the locust in his rapid flight? Who skilled thee in the chase and showed the how to weave the gaudy bead upon the yellow moccasin in wild, fantastic figures of rude, impossible things?

Idly thou leanest 'gainst the cottonwood, scratching thy back ferninst its rough yet kindly trunk, while in thy dark, mysterious eye there lurks a hidden joy, a joy perchance like his who,
yielding to the buckwheat cake's seduc-tive power, hath found the hat-rack in the hall and worked it on his shoulderblade.

Fair Alfarita! child of the dusky night, we greet thee 'cross the purple hills like other poets who have written of thy grace. Thy childlike face hath won the poet to thy side and (in his mind) he tunes his lyre to thee.

Some day the warrior of the mountain clime will come and woo thee in the guttural, melancholy style thy people love, and in the twilight's glow, when nature and the bullfrog sink to rest, with coy reluctance, like the man who meets his mother-in-law thou, Alfarita, daughter of malarious night, wilt yield
thy future to the knock-kneed brave.—
Bill Nye.

Flash Words.

I think there is one habit—I said to one company a day or two afterwards—worse than that of punning. It is the gradual substitution of cant or flash terms for words which characterize their object. I have known several very gentle idiots whose whole vocabulary had deliquesced into some half dozen expressions. All things fell into one of two great categories, fast or slow. Man's chief end was to be a "brick." When the great calamities of life overtook their friends, these last were spoken of as being "a good deal cut up." Nine-tenths of human existence were summed up in the single word "bore." These expressions come to be algebraic symbols of mind which have grown two weak or indolent to discriminate. They are the blank checks of intellectual bankruptcy;
you may fill them up with what idea
you like; it makes no difference; for there are no funds in the treasury upon which they are drawn.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Kissing Dogs.

We fear the article we published in regard to girls who kiss dogs has been taken wrong, by some. We have a delicately scented note—not scented like dog, however—from a Chicago girl, who is indignant. She says she had rather kiss a dog any time than a man. That is all right. It is only a matter of taste.
If the man she refers to smells like a dog, and has fleas, and his eyes run, and he licks himself instead of washing, we don't blame her. Of course she knows more about him than we do. But if a nice, clean man should come her way, a man with the modern improvements,
who could kiss back, which a dog can't,
we will bet she would drop her dog like a hot potato and freeze to the man like the ivy to the oak, and she would forget all about her dog. Try it once, sis, and you will sell your dog to the first butcher
that comes along.—Peck's Sun.

A Brave Girl.

The doctors are always ready to avail themselves of all the human bodies they can get to cut up in the dissecting-rooms,
but there are probably comparatively few of them who would be willing to contribute their own cadaver to the use of the colleges when they get through with them themselves. We lately had a letter from a brave young woman now happily recovering, but who, at one time, thought she was pretty nearly at the gates of death. Speaking of her possible demise she remarked: "In such an event I prefer to abolish the undertaker and rob
the grave yard by having my body sent to the dissecting-table, and, if possible,
disclose wherein I made the mistakes
that forfeited my life."

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER.

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.
ST. ALBANS, VT., Jan. 20, 1880.
DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with "Kendall's Spavin Cure" has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured
a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road
he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither will
the bunch be found. Respectfully yours.
P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

STROUGHTON, MASS., March 16, 1880.
B. J. KENDALL & CO., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with "Kendall's Spavin Cure," one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or left.
This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me it will be very great.

Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.
KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach a every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness
and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. ALL DRUGGISTS have it or can get it for you or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price
by the proprietors. DR. B. J. KENDALL &
